

CLIMBING BOULDERS

Rockworks climbing boulders are unique in introducing challenge and adventure into open access parks, playgrounds and recreational spaces

Designs are bespoke to every project and the boulders can be constructed to recreate any rock type or style of climbing and designed to cater for participants of all ages and abilities

Boulders can be installed with interlinking, rope climbing nets and slacklines, attachment points for top roping and also with, or without bolt on climbing holds

Rockworks have designed and installed the largest outdoor climbing boulder parks in the UK at the Summerhill Adventure Park and at Fairlop Waters, Redbridge, London

The boulders are installed with an appropriate safety surface, suitable for an open access facility and Rockworks can provide a complete ground works service including surround landscaping
